- Forging paths (2025/04/03 00:00)

This Week in F-Droid TWIF curated on Thursday, 03 Apr 2025, Week 14 Community News We were sad to announce that the Divest projects were shutting down back in December 2024, so we are glad to see GMaps WV being picked up by the very prolific @woheller69. An update will come soon. Also in comeback news, Organic Maps: Hike, Bike, Drive Offline was homeless for a couple of days as Github was messing with their source code repository. Fortunately the developers moved quickly and switched to their own hosted repository, based on Forgejo. While F-Droid is hosted on the main Gitlab instance, which is open-source in itself and we are critical of its limitations and frustrating behaviors, we do get recurrent users talking to us about the baffling choice of FOSS developers that overwhelmingly choose the proprietary Github. Yes, Github brought git to the masses with its easy to use web interface and social features, but by now, surely there are plenty of FOSS choices for people to use, from self-hosting to hosted, gratis or paid. And let's not start the discussion about FOSS projects discussions being hosted by centralized proprietary messaging services... Ente Photos - Open source, end-to-end encrypted ai was updated to 1.0.1, finally bumping versioning to an arbitrarily important v1. This checkpoint might not seem much, but it's based on more than 40000 commits since the project started 5 years ago. The developers also wrote a celebratory blog post. If you are curious about self-hosting Ente Photos, you can follow this "1 minute (1 command only!)" guide. NOTE: We'd like to warn, in general, against pasting in your terminal commands copied from the Internet. We do encourage you to check the source first, in this case, Ente's server/quickstart.sh In more photo hosting news, Immich was updated to 1.130.3 fixing little issues raised after the nice 1.130.0 update. And that's not all, a newer update is building as you read this, but we'll not spoil it today, see you next week. @shuvashish76 rotates a tomayto... a tomahto: Goodtime - Minimalist Pomodoro Timer was updated to 3.0.2 polishing the big 3.0.0 release which brought a lot of nice features. Newly Added Apps 7 apps were newly added Kreate: A multilingual YouTube Music frontend for Android, prioritize performance Neon: Scrolling text on fullscreen like boarding Pixiv-MultiPlatform: Third-party Pixiv client Quad9 Connect: App for Quad9 recursive DNS cybersecurity and privacy services Soul Searching: Music player for Android SuperX: Video downloader with browser for downloading videos from everywhere TriPeaks NEUE: A simple TriPeaks game Removed Apps 1 apps was removed Bitcoin Wallet [signet], Your own Bitcoins, in your own pocket!, is taking a break until some issues are fixed in F-Droid's publishing workflow. Downgraded Apps 1 apps were downgraded LessPass was downgraded from 9.8.5 to 9.7.3, as the update was crashing. A fixed version is building now. - F-Droid Board of Directors nominations 2025 (2025/03/30 00:00)

Nominations are now open for this year's appointments to the F-Droid Board of Directors! Up to four new directors will be selected to serve for two years. You may nominate yourself or someone else (with their permission). Please send nominations by email to board-nominations@f-droid.org (one email per nomination) and make sure that the nominee is copied in. We will confirm receipt of each nomination. To ensure consideration, please send nominations no later than the 14th of April, Anywhere on Earth (AoE). Who should be nominated? We seek to be an enthusiastic, expert and diverse board that can support the F-Droid community as effectively as possible. We welcome nominations of anyone committed to furthering the freedoms of computer users, particularly with regard to mobile devices. What should I include in a nomination? To best evaluate the nominations, we would like to see a description of why you think the candidate would make an excellent board member. Consider including some or all of the following: links to relevant social media profiles and personal websites examples of previous contributions to F-Droid or other Free and Open Source software particular skills or qualifications that could be useful How will the new directors be selected? The nominations will be discussed by the current Board of Directors in a private meeting. The current directors will vote on each nominee. Existing directors are permitted to run for an additional term, but voting is weighted in favour of new candidates. For more information on the process, see our statutes. What is expected of directors? Directors are expected to attend a online meeting by video conference at least once a month, and to participate in discussions via email. Directors are also required to respond promptly if a vote is called. English is the working language of the Board of Directors, so an adequate English ability is required. We would be more than happy to make reasonable adjustments, so please don't hesitate to get in contact if you have any questions about these expectations. When will the new appointments be announced? Our intention is to decide on the appointments as early as the 17th of April and announce the selected candidates later the same week. We look forward to receiving your nominations!

- What were you installing back in March 2015? (2025/03/27 00:00)

This Week in F-Droid TWIF curated on Thursday, 27 Mar 2025, Week 13 Community News aFreeRDP was updated to 3.14.0 after almost a year of missed releases. The changelog is huge, filled with bug fixes, new features and some polished ones. Of note, F-Droid patches the build to make it compatible with older servers down to Windows 7. Delta Chat and ArcaneChat were updated to 1.56.0 adding the often requested messaging editing, deletion and saving. Fossify Calculator, Simple and open-source calculator for quick and easy calculations comes as a replacement for Fossify Calculator, now archived. Yes, same name but different app ID, so if you installed it before March 23, please uninstall the old app and install this new one. Jami was updated to 20250319-01 getting it ready for the crowds of people migrating from the now closed Skype. Or at least that's what the developers are preparing for, as mentioned in their latest post. RidgeScout was updated to 1.4 and comes with an overhauled UI. The developer wanted reproducible builds hence if you had the app installed you'd need to uninstall it and install this new version.

@shuvashish76 finally opens a book: Book's Story was updated to 1.7.0 with three major changes: storage permission replaced with SAF, network access permission was removed and nested chapters are now supported. To read more about these and other improvements, see the full changelog. - Group improvements (2025/03/20 00:00)

This Week in F-Droid TWIF curated on Thursday, 20 Mar 2025, Week 12 F-Droid core F-Droid and F-Droid Basic version 1.22.0 were promoted to suggested so everybody got the update this week. If you want to know what's new, see the changelog. What's next? We're in the bike-shedding stage for the modern UI colors and we polish the nuances of our tones. So stay tuned for a future alpha release soon. /PS: Hey, psst, don't tell anyone, but... targetSdk was bumped to 30 for F-Droid and we are going edge-to-edge internally already. Community News Element - Secure Messenger was updated to 1.6.34 fixing a CVE bug in the PIN protection. Users are advised to upgrade as soon as possible. Session was updated to 1.21.0 bringing support for the new Groups v2 standard. If you are an admin or just curious, groups can be upgraded since yesterday, and you can read all about that in this blog post. Also posted was "End-to-End Encryption: Why It's Essential in Modern Communication" which might not be news to you, its user, but might come in handy for your contacts. SimpleX Chat was updated to 6.3 for arm64 and by tomorrow for armv7 too. While waiting, do read the 10 minute new blog post from the developers, talking about their own group improvements. To Do, Create checklists, is back with version 1.2.2 after a 10 year pause. The app is reproducibly built now, so, if by some miracle you had this installed still, make sure to backup and uninstall it, as the new version needs a fresh install. @shuvashish76 debloats a device: AppManager dev launched a new website to list and classify bloatware. The Android Debloat List might help you clean house and limit attack surface, and it's integrated in the app itself since version 4.0.0, see the Debloater function, so you can easily find your way around. As usual with these type of actions, make sure to double check what you disable and verify device functionality after. Removed Apps 4 apps were removed Amethyst: Nostr Client for Android GitTouch: An app for GitHub, GitLab, Bitbucket, Gitea, and Gitee(码云) kubenav: Navigator for your Kubernetes clusters right in your pocket 炒饭超Fun: Client for ChaoFun community Newly Added Apps 10 apps were newly added Advanced PortChecker: Check if TCP ports are open Bahn-Vorhersage: Ranking for train journeys according to their reliability. (German only) Bitcoin Wallet [signet]: Your own Bitcoins, in your own pocket! Distribution Calculator: Easily operate with uncertainty Game Counter: A customizable game point counter geteduroam: Configure eduroam by using your institution profile Gizz Tapes: Stream King Gizzard and the Lizard Wizard shows right to your phone! - Join our ranks of digital luddites (2025/03/06 00:00)

This Week in F-Droid TWIF curated on Thursday, 06 Mar 2025, Week 10 Community News “Digital Luddites are rising. They want to democratise tech, not destroy it” is a ten minute article about the “luddites” of old and of the present. Money quote: “Proprietary corporate systems have long been challenged by free, open-source alternatives. But digital Luddism isn't just about using different tools. It's about systemic change towards sustainable, transparent and user-controlled infrastructure”. That bit will sound all too familiar to everyone involved in FOSS and to fans of what the F-Droid ecosystem tries to achieve. Good news for the Android ecosystem, “the first RISC-V vendor to support the open source Android app marketplace” (in Chinese) has been announced. The gist of it in English: “The Xuantie team has now completed the porting of about 1,500 applications in the F-Droid market, covering a wide range of categories such as system tools, graphics and images, audio and video software, transportation, office software, input methods, and development tools, improving the experience of end users of the RISC-V architecture Android system.” If you are a Fediverse user, you might enjoy a “Large overview of Mastodon clients for Android” (in Polish), covering the F-Droid repo, IzzyOnDroid repo and even some apps from a certain silo app catalogue. freeminer was updated to 5.10.0 after a nine year pause. This voxel-based multiplayer game platform is a fork of Minetest Luanti so everything should be familiar. OpenConnect, Android UI for OpenConnect VPN client, was just included as a continuation and replacement for the old OpenConnect, SSL VPN client for Cisco AnyConnect, now archived. QUIK SMS was updated to 4.1.0 after a long one year beta period, fixing a lot of bugs. Shattered Pixel Dungeon was updated to 3.0.0 with a huge update. The developer posted about the changes early on, so you can read about the sixth hero which will be “The Cleric!”, take a review of the year 2024 and peruse all the changes in v3.0.0. Shitter, Lightweight Mastodon client, was archived as the appID was changed to Smither. Warsmash, A Warcraft III emulator made using LibGDX game engine, joins our ranks of game cult classics, so grab you old CDs. Newly Added Apps 15 more apps were newly added Amadz - Calling App: Clean & intuitive Phone Dialer app following Material Design principles ArtNet Receiver: Listen for and analyze ArtNet data in the local network BLE Manager: Control your BLE devices easily. No libraries needed. Chinese Converter: Converts between Simplified and Traditional with regional variants support! fivethreeone_log: Track your workouts and progress with the 5/3/1 method FlickBoard: Type faster with flicking Mnemosyne: A memorization app designed for lists as opposed to traditional flashcards OpenDrummer - Drum Loops: Drum loops in different styles and tempos SocketChat: A simple app to chat with anyone you want on the same network T CrB Detector: T CrB Detector notifies the user when the star T CrB has exploded tiefprompt: A relatively simple teleprompter application Urn: A mobile, offline urn for majority judgement polls WA Adder: Add WhatsApp contacts without giving WhatsApp access to your contacts! Wispar: Stay up-to-date with article in your field of study! Zashi: Zcash Wallet: Zashi is a Zcash wallet that keeps your transaction and

- Even my keyboard is built reproducibly (2025/03/04 00:00)

Two years ago, almost to the day, we've spoken about how "VPN trust requires free software" outlining the importance of reproducible builds in general, and specially when it comes to your Internet connection security. That post sparked some interest and led to improvements in the way F-Droid packages reproducible builds. Last year we were saddened to read that proprietary keyboards are (still) spying on their users and encouraged you to seek better FOSS keyboard apps. The keyboard is perhaps the most sensitive app on the device. Everything you write will go through the keyboard app, including passwords and private messages. In order to have a trustworthy device, we need to know that our keyboard app is treating our secrets with the utmost care. The best ones do not even request internet access or any other way to send our precious keystrokes anywhere besides where they are intended to go. As we push for apps to be reproducible when included, let's take a look at the current F-Droid offer in regards to keyboards. Our F-Droid Verification Server continuously rebuilds apps and compares them to the published version. This allows us to spot sources of non-determinism in all apps, no matter if setup as reproducible or not. We split our available keyboard apps based on their reproducible status as: Reproducible - we host the developer signed packages after we verify them as reproducible Verified - we host our signed packages, and the Verification Server confirms them as reproducible Soon to be Verified - we host our signed packages, verification fails, but we've contributed upstream to hopefully fix the issues, so maybe the next version will be fine Not verified - we host our signed packages, verification fails or the app is so old that there are lower chances to be fixed Reproducible: Latin script: Colemak Mod-DH Keyboard, Fossify Keyboard, HeliBoard Asian script: Fcitx5 & plugins, Kuaizi IME, Sithakuru Special layout: FlickBoard, Thumb-Key, Traditional T9 Voice input: Sayboard Misc: KryptEY Verified: Latin script: Brailiac: Braille Keyboard, DroidTR IME, Irregular Expressions, Key Mapper GUI Keyboard, Simple Keyboard, Unexpected Keyboard Asian script: Guileless Bopomofo, Stroke Input Method (筆畫輸入法) Voice input: Könele, Whisper Misc: FutharkBoard Soon to be Verified: Latin script: 8Vim, FlorisBoard Asian script: Indic Keyboard, Trime Not Verified: Latin script: AnySoftKeyboard & plugins, Hacker's Keyboard Misc: KeePassDX - FOSS Password Safe Too old to even be checked: Changjie Input Method, Dasher, Mozc for Android, Sophia Keyboard Interesting list, looks like we offer a large variety of input apps that, hopefully, not only cover your typing needs but also allow you to do this on a verified reproducibly built app. This work was supported by your donations, and from NLnet. This Week in F-Droid TWIF curated on Thursday, 27 Feb 2025, Week 9 F-Droid core Termux:GUI, A plugin for Termux to use the Android GUI from terminal applications, is finally live. Well technically it was live several times in the past but it was not set up properly. How so? Termux has a bunch of add-ons that enhance its functionality, but in order to interoperate with the main Termux app, they need to be specially setup to be signed with the same key (F-Droid key in this case). We have a dozen or so apps that need this configuration, set in the main build server, and managed there along with the signing setup since the early days of F-Droid. As the F-Droid software components got updated, changed, improved over the years, this keyaliases (as they are called) setting was not yet tackled. This month the last bits have fallen into place, so we are moving forward to configure it in the main metadata repository so they are more easily added and removed as needed in the future. Community News If you live in France, maybe you can call your locally elected representative and ask them how are they going to vote on the new proposed surveillance law? Yes, there's one every 8 months or so in some country, not sure how they think they can add backdoors to encryption and siphon data from your device at will yet still respect GDPR, but they keep trying to push these. You can read about the law here and contact your favorite député ici. FOSSGIS 2025 conference is the leading conference for free and open source software for geoinformation systems in the D-A-CH space, as well as for the topics of Open Data and OpenStreetMap. It will take place in Münster between 26 and 29 March. FOSSGIS 2025 Schedule was updated to 1.69.1-FOSSGIS-Edition, so make sure you have it installed and ready. maid was updated to 2.0.1 with a complete rewrite of the entire codebase. It wasn't a smooth process as reproducible builds are trickier and we had to skip some versions in between, but now it is live. OnionShare was updated to 0.2.0-beta, but should be skipped as it is crashing. An updated version is built right now. PipePipe was updated to 4.2.0 after a two months pause, many issues have been fixed and features being added like AV1 high quality format support and Sponsorblock integration. RiMusic was updated to 0.6.71 which might be its last version to come to F-Droid. In an odd turn, the developer lost control of their Discord instance, warned people not to donate if asked there, saw their app being cloned on some centralized app store and made the app source code unavailable for the foreseeable future as a reaction. If the developer changes their mind, we will promptly update it as soon as possible. SimpleX Chat was updated to 6.2.5 and, if you have 13 minutes to spare, the developers wrote about how they want to handle "large groups and privacy-preserving content moderation" in the future. Threema Libre is built reproducible in F-Droid, signed by the developer. But this means that both teams need to be extra careful and fix issues that might arise from this process. This week the app was updated to 5.8.1l after a 3 months hiatus, thanks to the collaboration between F-Droid contributors and the app developers. Also now it features emoji reactions. ☐ We've bemoaned previously about the lack of updates for VLC but that's well in the past as the app was just updated to 3.6.3.

What's new? It comes with the new Remote Access feature, a parental control and a lot of fixes. Also in the news, to celebrate its 20 year anniversary, "VLC Lunar Time Capsule" will send your video to the actual moon, if this TWIF gets to you on time. And the most interesting bit came out of CES 2025 back in January, where VLC announced that they will integrate offline on-device generative AI for automatic subtitle generation capable of speaking several dozen languages, based on the Whisper models (same used in the Whisper, Voice recognition app). XScreenSaver was updated to 6.09 as we missed two versions, and while we don't get Jamie Zawinski's, of Netscape and early Mozilla fame, stamp of "official", we want this fun app to be available and on your screen, be it as a live wallpaper or an actual screensaver. @shuvashish76 ask us to stop press: As we learn that @cketti, the beloved developer, has quit their job working on Thunderbird for Android and K-9 Mail at Mozilla. This Week in F-Droid TWIF curated on Thursday, 20 Feb 2025, Week 8 F-Droid core F-Droid Client 1.22.0 has been live for a couple of weeks now, the gist of the changes can be read here. Did you give it a good shake on your Android distro? No? As it's not yet "suggested" only users that manually update or opt-in into Betas got it already, so feel free to do that and ping us if we need to fix any last minute thing. Community News Are you around Valencia, Spain on Feb 28? Would you like to mess with Linux, ad blocking, free apps, federated networks? There's a workshop for you at Las Naves, more details here. And if you stay a bit longer you can start to code your own game in Godot in the next hours. (/PS: When ready, feel free to add it to F-Droid and join the other dozen Godot games) ArcaneChat and Delta Chat were updated to 1.54.0. If you want to dig deeper under their skin to see what makes them tick, you can read about the RIIR (rewrite it in Rust) adventure in the new "From C- to JSON-based APIs of the Rust "core" library" post. Emacs was updated to 30.0.93, with dependencies required to render SVG and other raster and vector image formats, initiate TLS connections, shape Indic and Arabic text, and load tree-sitter grammar libraries. - Materialization of modern design (2025/02/13 00:00)

This Week in F-Droid TWIF curated on Thursday, 13 Feb 2025, Week 7 F-Droid core We've teased the new Material Design 3 UI client design update, and the feedback is as expected, from "I hate it", through "I don't care", to "I like it". This is work in progress but we've polished it internally for the last year, so it's pretty close to being done. Yes, pure black theme is staying, but the bottom bar will be dark gray. No, we can't keep the old design in parallel too. Yes, Basic is built from the same source so everything will apply as well. No, it does not cover all views just yet, some are custom and need more work to be updated. Yes, we don't expect any performance hit, but this might depend on your device and its Android version. Building on this base, in the future, we can imagine adding Material You support too, for Android 12 and later devices, so you can make your own device wide pastel theme and love/hate it in private. If you can lend a hand to fix any urgent issues that you see, feel free to contact us. Community News Box Smasher, Shoot balls to smash boxes into the void!, has made the transition from a centralized store to F-Droid. Welcome! DigiAgriApp was updated to 0.3.2, previous two versions were missing some libs so if you had issues, update and retest. mLauncher - Minimal and Clutter Free launcher, Fork of Olauncher, +minimalization, +customizability is back and updated to version 1.7.0. Users rejoice! In more game news, Naija Ludo +, A Modern Twist on the Classic Board Game, is live too. It brings the classic board game of Ludo into the digital present. SherpaTTS made a splash last week on launch as users crowded to install it and use it. Update 1.3 is available now, fixing crashes and adding the most wanted feature: multiple languages. Video Diary, Record your life in one short video a day, brings the new concept of a short video journal for the future, in FOSS form, and privately. @shuvashish76 manages some apps: App Manager - Android package manager was updated to 4.0.0 with a long list of changes. - Hearing your device speak (2025/02/06 00:00)

This Week in F-Droid TWIF curated on Thursday, 06 Feb 2025, Week 6 Community News From a prolific FOSS dev @woheller69 we now have another app, SherpaTTS, Text-to-Speech engine based on Next-gen Kaldi. We've complained before about the FOSS voice situation, that while RHVoice got some updates, it's still limited to 8 natural voices, and the new eSpeak is great, supports many voices, but the robotic synthesized sounds are harder to tune and use. Out of the LLM gold rush we hope to extract some value for the end users too, and applying their magic here appears to give some really nice results. How good? SeeHear for yourself on the test page. After install and the download of your language of choice, don't forget to go to Android Settings, System, Languages, Text-to-speech and select SherpaTTS as the preferred engine. Now your apps will use it to give you directions, like Organic Maps mentioned below and OsmAnd~, read text out-loud or even your notifications (via Voice Notify). On related apps, from the same developer even, do also try Whisper (Voice recognition speech to text: you don't type, you just talk and magically the text appears on screen) and Seamless (After talking, the text is translated to another language). Organic Maps: Hike, Bike, Drive Offline, was updated to 2025.01.26-9-FDroid. In the past we had our share of long philosophical discussions with the OM app team, say about newly added 'features', and about the nature of Ads but it all ended well enough from our point of view. The latest version improves upon all these, map features aside, as it fixes two of the pain points that had the app flagged with anti-features more than one year ago. The added Kayak hotel links are now a setting users need to enable if they want and the CDN servers that serve your maps finally run FOSS software. Tubular, A free lightweight YouTube front-end, is newly added. It's a fork of NewPipe which brings support for SponsorBlock and ReturnYouTubeDislike features and more. Newly Added Apps 8 more apps were newly added Dumpsys Packages Copycat: Provides a detailed summary of all installed packages Eidetic: A simple Android app that helps you improve your working memory Encrypt-Decrypt-AndroidAPK: Encrypt / Decrypt APK , with AES 256 GCM/DES Open Alert Viewer: Fetch and display server alerts ShockAlarm: Material 3 app for controlling

- F-Droid Awarded Open Technology Fund's FOSS Sustainability Grant (2025/02/05 00:00)

We are excited to announce that F-Droid has been awarded $396,044 from the Open Technology Fund's FOSS Sustainability Fund. This grant is specifically designed to support free and open-source software (FOSS) projects in addressing long-term sustainability challenges, and we are honored to be among the recipients. As F-Droid's user base and community of volunteer contributors has grown, so have the challenges of maintaining and expanding the project. While our lightweight, resilient architecture has scaled to meet increasing demand, we now face critical issues that dedicated and consistent funding will help us address so we can continue to bring FOSS-based, privacy focused apps to people around the world, even in places with limited internet access. This OTF funding will help us: Refactor and integrate code with other maintained projects to reduce technical debt and improve efficiency. Establish clear policies and legal strategies for handling government take-down and censorship requests. Improve our localization workflows to make translations easier to manage and maintain. Strengthen our donation infrastructure so we can sustain F-Droid long-term. Enhance our hosting and infrastructure to increase flexibility, reduce costs, and ensure reliability. This grant represents a major step forward in ensuring F-Droid's long-term sustainability. We look forward to sharing progress as we work on these improvements. You can follow our progress here: Related issues Related merge requests A big thank you goes to the Open Technology Fund for supporting open-source infrastructure and helping projects like ours continue to thrive!

- Refresh your home-screen (2025/01/30 00:00)

This Week in F-Droid TWIF curated on Thursday, 30 Jan 2025, Week 5 F-Droid core F-Droid and F-Droid Basic were updated to 1.22.0 stable, but not yet 'suggested'. If you've missed the quick alpha version you can read the list of changes. Current changelog since the alpha is short: automatically add newly installed apps to home-screen for most launchers (Thanks Dhina!) disable gentle app updates again because of update issues (Find out why here) some bug fixes As usual we ask brave users to test this release and offer feedback as soon as possible. How to install this release? In F-Droid Client, on its own page, either scroll down, expand Versions and install the latest, or in the upper right menu choose "Allow Beta updates". Community News Does IOCipher ring any bells for you as a developer? If so, you'd be informed that @Zoff, the developer behind Trifa - Tox Client, has picked up maintaining a fork of IOCipher and updated to version 1.0. You'll have to adapt your code a bit so do read about this community reboot here. Delta Chat and ArcaneChat were updated to 1.52.0, with fixes all around. That aside, their push of Webxdc is getting more traction, across protocols and with many more apps for users to drop in their chats. Were you rehearsing your elevator pitch for the moment you see a VC going up? Maybe you need to cross out some of those app ideas as Webxdc might replace billionairish platforms with ZIP files. Dolphin Emulator was updated to 2412, and you can read about all the new goodies while it installs. Oh, wait, I lied, Release 2407 and 2409 notes will take you at least 30 minutes, and you might need to grab a beverage as Release 2412 notes will need 40 more. KDE Connect was updated to 1.32.11, and maybe you should keep an eye on any popups about the update being blocked, as some reported this week and last week. NewPipe was updated to 0.27.5, fixing one of the recent issues with Youtube, the other issue that stops videos at 59 seconds is work in progress. Tarnhelm version 1.6.6 was rebuilt, to fix an issue with Xposed API, so now it's missing for one cycle but it will come back in the next one along with the next version. @linsui transfers our words: CatShare, App for Mutual Transmission Alliance, was just added. Do you have a phone made in China which comes with a convenient file transfer function? Some phones made in China support Mutual Transmission Alliance in the stock ROM but this function is not available in FOSS ROMs such as LineageOS. CatShare is a FOSS implementation of Mutual Transmission Alliance protocol. Now you can transfer files between any ROM with Mutual Transmission Alliance protocol thanks to the power of FOSS. Ciyue was updated to 1.0.0, bringing multiple dictionaries support. The external storage permission is removed, therefore when upgrading from old versions the dicts won't work anymore. - Seeking feedback on Community Council nominations, and a call for more (2025/01/27 00:00)

In an important step toward ensuring a safe, constructive, and empowered community, the F-Droid Board put out a call for Community Council nominations and subsequent extension. This search yielded one nomination, that of Vishal Bakhai, aka vdbhb59 (Harry), who is an active moderator of the F-Droid forum and other channels. If you have any feedback about the nomination of Vishal, or feedback about the process of the Community Council, please email elections {at} f-droid {dot} org before 2025-02-18. We'll also try to monitor other channels on a best effort basis. If you would like to nominate yourself or somebody else as a potential member of the Community Council, we welcome nominations via elections {at} f-droid {dot} org until the end of the feedback period on 2025-02-18.

- Federated services made easier (2025/01/23 00:00)

This Week in F-Droid TWIF curated on Thursday, 23 Jan 2025, Week 4 Community News Element - Secure Messenger was updated to 1.6.28, small fixes, yet big changes ahead. Last week we casually mentioned that Element users should test try other apps too, say like Element X or the fork SchildiChat Next, but we did so since we've seen what's coming. The gist of it is that Element is being sunsetted and this version already is being impaired to force users to switch, as the app will "prevent creation of new accounts on server with MAS support, and redirect users to Element X". Critics already pointed out that: "Element X is still very much incomplete, no support for spaces, no support for threads, and no support for validating other users”, so do shake these new clients thoroughly before jumping for good. We will add more news as we come across them. For now SchildiChat, the Element fork, will not block any in-app features, so users still have options. Emacs was updated to 30.0.93 as the first version that is specifically improved for Android. Potential users might shriek while reading the permissions list, and we’d like that pruned as much as possible too. FOSDEM 2025 is a week away, and after you finish reading about the billionaires future dramas at the conference, do check the updates for FOSDEM 2025 Schedule, now at 1.69.0-FOSDEM-Edition, and FOSDEM Companion at 2.2.8. When you reach FOSDEM do try to find us, we might have stickers! KDE Connect was updated to 1.32.10, and for a second we had a flash-back from October 2023 as we’ve seen this worrying report. We hope it’s just a glitch... PeerTube, Federated video platform, is finally here and built reproducible. We host several apps that might be considered 3-rd party PeerTube clients or Fediverse clients that can access it, but now we have the so called official app. There has never been a better time to embrace federated services, and it’s getting better. Still in federated news, Pixelix was updated to 3.2.1, did it replace your use of some big corporate siloed photo sharing site/app? Maybe take a look at it, as for a little while it was the best selling social network app in some other store. F-Droid offers it for free, but you can thank the developer on their Buy Me a Coffee donation page. And if you want to improve the app, there’s no easier way to contribute than translating it. Podcini.R - Podcast instrument was updated to 7.3.5 for one last time, as the developer stopped its work on the app. We guess the integration with some big video site from a known monopolist corporation is proving problematic, once again. But all is not lost, the developer will continue to work on the newly added Podcini.X - Podcast instrument, Modern, feature-rich, podcast instrument, app instead. VPN Hotspot, Tethering/Wi-Fi repeater, a new fork of the old VPN Hostspot app was added and since the old one has not been updated for a long time it will be archived soon. Do try this one and replace the vanishing one. Write On: Simple Notepad was updated to 1.2, yet you have it and you don’t see the update? Unfortunately the developer lost the key, no joke, bad things happen. Hence you’ll need to uninstall the app and reinstall the fresh one. /PS: We’ve updated the RSS link in the footer to point straight to the feed. While the plain link was useful for both browser users and feed apps users, not all RSS apps would pickup the feed correctly unfortunately. Now the link is for app use only. - A Look Back at 2024: F-Droid's Progress and What's Coming in 2025 (2025/01/21 00:00)

With 2024 now behind us, we wanted to take a moment to reflect on the growth and achievements we accomplished as a community last year, and celebrate the incredible support we received from the FOSS community throughout the journey. This year has been a milestone for us, with significant strides in decentralizing app distribution, expanding the F-Droid ecosystem, and solidifying our infrastructure. All of these advancements were made possible thanks to donations, grants, our volunteers and regular contributors. So thank you again to everyone who helped make 2024 another great year for F-Droid. Now let's take a closer look at what we accomplished. A Review of Key Accomplishments in 2024 Decentralizing App Distribution: A Core Focus One of the most important initiatives we worked on in 2024 was the continued development of our app decentralization efforts. Our aim is to make F-Droid a more robust and accessible platform, making further in-roads into the hold Big Tech currently has on app distribution. Building on the work we started in 2022, as a part of the Filecoin Foundation for the Decentralized Web grant, we continued to make substantial progress this year in providing developers and end-users with more options to distribute their apps through a decentralized, equitable and privacy-oriented process. The goal for this project is to enable individuals and organizations to mirror and distribute F-Droid apps in a community-driven fashion, reducing reliance on centralized services. This work ties into a larger vision of creating a truly open-source ecosystem for Android apps that is not governed by proprietary companies. In 2024 we completed the following infrastructure upgrades: Broke out and overhauled core client logic around publishing and consuming repositories. Made client logic into libraries to make it easy to embed repositories in any app that needs it. Added support for mirroring repositories onto both IPFS and Filecoin. Added support in F-Droid client to use mirrors and repositories hosted on IPFS and Filecoin. Improved F-Droid client “whitelabel builds”. Enhanced F-Droid client’s existing “nearby” and “app swap” capabilities. Updated F-Droid’s Repomaker tool (for easy “point and click” curation and publishing of app repos) and add support for IPFS publishing. Supported iOS apps and progressive web apps (PWA) as packages that can be shipped via repositories. 2024 marked the end of this grant period, however the tools, features and policies established within the scope of the grant, will continue to be developed thanks to donations and other funders who are committed to further decentralizing app distribution. Expanding the F-Droid Ecosystem: Repomaker and Mobifree Another key project we started in 2024 was the further exploration and expansion of tools within the F-Droid ecosystem. Thanks to a major grant from EU Horizon Europe, we were able to deepen our focus on tools like Repomaker, which helps developers create their own F-Droid-compatible repositories. This tool is crucial for maintaining and growing the diverse range of apps available on F-Droid, and its expansion will support more developers who wish to contribute to the platform. Mobifree is an initiative that aims to provide a free, open-source, and decentralized alternative to traditional mobile app stores. It focuses on the freedom of choice, privacy, and user empowerment. Our contributions to this project will help strengthen the ties between F-Droid and other decentralized app distribution systems, ensuring that we remain a key player in the future of open-source mobile software. Do you have your own project ideas for Mobifree? You can apply for up to 50,000€ from NLnet NGI Mobifree. We can help you apply, just reach out via the regular F-Droid channels. Key Contributions in 2024: User research to understand app developer distribution workflows, compensation models, index preferences and APK metadata. Built on existing Fastlane tooling to further automate the app package and upload the process to F-Droid. Repomaker feature development made the repo creation and distribution process easier for non-tech users, non-profit and humanitarian organizations. Created a central registry of all DAPPER compatible repos and API for app stores like Murena’s App Lounge to pull in compatible repos and further decentralize app distribution process. In 2025, we continue to contribute to the Mobifree project, getting our tools, apps and software ready for pilot testing this spring. From there, we will continue to improve the software based on user-testing feedback, ultimately making the tools available for the general public to use and enjoy. F-Droid Community Engagement None of this would be possible without the incredible contributions from the FOSS community. In 2024, we saw a substantial increase in the number of contributions to F-Droid. From bug fixes and app updates to new apps being added to the store, our community of developers, testers, and contributors have been pivotal in keeping F-Droid running smoothly. Here are some statistics that highlight the community’s impact this year: App Updates: Over 7205 app updates were made, keeping the app catalog fresh and secure. New Apps Added: We welcomed over 402 new apps to the F-Droid repository, further expanding the variety of open-source apps available to users. Archived Apps: 939 Apps were successfully archived. Packages per Hour: Approximately 2-3 packages were created every hour, without interruption. Between updated and new apps, F-Droid built apps over 7600 times. Since most modern apps are split per device architecture, this means that each app version required multiple packages to be built, sometimes up to 4 packages for each app version. This increases the real number of builds by 2.5-3x. Putting it all together, that would equal between 2-3 packages created per hour, without interruption in 2024. These numbers are a reflection of the dedication and passion of the F-Droid community. We are immensely grateful for each and every contributor who made these achievements possible. Looking Ahead in 2025 New Team Members and Big Plans for 2025 As we look forward to 2025, we are excited to announce two key additions to the F-Droid team who will help us scale our efforts in the coming year. Hailey Still has joined us as a new project manager and UX designer. Hailey brings a diverse background of experience in managing complex projects and designing user-friendly and intuitive interfaces. Her expertise will continue to be instrumental in helping us secure new grant opportunities, streamline our operations and improve the user experience tools we work on. We are also pleased to welcome Nzambi Kakusu as our new grant administrator. Nzambi will play a crucial role in helping us secure and manage funding for F-Droid's continued development. With her experience in grant management, Nzambi will help ensure that we can continue to sustain and grow the project in a way that aligns with our mission and values. OTF Grant and Infrastructure Work In 2025 we are thrilled to begin working on a grant funded by the Open Technology Fund. This grant will help us maintain F-Droid and focus on critical infrastructure work that was often overlooked, due to lack of consistent funding in the past. We'll be working on improving the resilience and security of our systems, ensuring that F-Droid continues to serve as a reliable, open-source app distribution platform for years to come. There will be an official announcement article coming soon. To Wrap it Up As we continue to grow and evolve, we are committed to our mission of decentralizing app distribution, expanding the F-Droid ecosystem, and empowering users with open-source alternatives to proprietary software. With the support of our community, our volunteers, and our new team members, we are excited for what 2025 will bring. Thank you for being part of the F-Droid journey! We look forward to an exciting year ahead, and we invite you to continue supporting F-Droid through contributions, donations, and spreading the word about our mission. Let's make 2025 another year of progress for the open-source community!

- Stop mulling, get Fennec (2025/01/16 00:00)

This Week in F-Droid TWIF curated on Thursday, 16 Jan 2025, Week 3 Community News Fennec F-Droid was updated to 134.0.0, and we urge users that still use Mull to switch. We've been announcing this for the last 3 TWIFs, we've added a warning in the last cycle that you'll see in the Updates tab and we marked the app for archival in the next index update. If you've been using the DivestOS repo, either by will or by running DivestOS Android on your device, the same advice applies even if, for now, that repo does not warn you about this. Katawa Shoujo: Re-Engineered, (18+) A fan-made modernization of the classic visual novel, was added one year ago and back then we were amazed of its size. The app just got a huge assets update and also changed its application ID. The new app is Katawa Shoujo: Re-Engineered (yes it's the same name adding to the confusion) and it's now even bigger, weighting at 1GB (you read it correct, gigabyte!). The size comes from using the archive of the original developers which contained all assets including photo pictures of backgrounds with nicely preserved metadata. The devs spent most of the year with two artists drawing and formatting these 4:3 CGs to be used with current modern widescreen resolutions. Going forward, users that have it installed need to uninstall the old version and install the new one. RetroArch was updated to 1.20.0 fixing an old pain point in the initial setup. Previously users would have needed to jump through the hoops in Online Updater, digging through 5 menus, to first download a list of assets and then be able to access them. Latest version packs an updated UI which will download everything needed in the first menu as expected. Syncthing, Open, trustworthy and decentralized file synchronization, has been finally archived, as announced back in October '24, just in time for a new Syncthing-Fork update to 1.29.0.0. Still waiting to switch? WG Tunnel, An alternative VPN client app for WireGuard with additional features, is now built reproducible, hence users will need to uninstall the old version and install the latest one. Wikipedia was updated to r/2.7.50515-r-2024-12-16. In related news, the app team released a new study based on the behavior of its users. You can read a summary of it in "Wikipedia Searches Reveal Differing Styles of Curiosity" and the full paper here: "Architectural styles of curiosity in global Wikipedia mobile app readership". Concerned users brought up this study as an issue since "the team tracked more than 482,000 people using Wikipedia's mobile app in 50 countries or territories and 14 languages", which sounds like a grave privacy invasion. We want to remind you that until last year or so, the app was rightfully flagged with the Tracking anti-feature as users were unable to disable the in-app analytics. Since then, as far as we know, tracking was removed from the app. Remember: the anti-features flags are there to inform the users, not to punish the developers. @linsui puts elements together: Element - Secure Messenger was updated to 1.6.26 with the fix for an annoying bug that made replies from bridges not visible. It's not marked as suggested yet so, if you want to get this version, please update manually or enable "beta updates" for it. In related apps, did you test Element X yet? NClientV2 was rebuilt to fix the API compatibility. A rebuild will not pop-up as an update and you can't update to the rebuild version from the F-Droid Client directly but you can install the APK, from the app page linked above, without uninstalling the broken version. Also of note, it seems this project has been discontinued so it's unlikely to get any future updates. Removed Apps 3 more apps were removed Launcher3: Home screen Music: The stock audio player SafePrice: check SafeCoin price from notification bar Newly Added Apps 9 more apps were newly added knkpanime: Anime app with multiple source and danmaku support Musekit: A simple tuner and metronome, no distractions Pixelix: A user-friendly Pixelfed client for photo uploads, browsing, & sharing QRshare: Generate QR codes on share intent ssrDroid: OverTLS & SSRoT Android client TerraTactician Expandoria: Hexagon based logic game Valet: The Bitcoin Lightning Wallet with Extra Features venera: A comic reader that support reading local and network comics. - Gentle updates postponed (2025/01/09 00:00)

This Week in F-Droid TWIF curated on Thursday, 09 Jan 2025, Week 2 F-Droid core How is the new Client 1.22.0-alpha0 update working for you? Did you notice any updates that seem stuck? Brave testers did. We mentioned last week that the new “gentle update” API might be troublesome, and indeed both internal testing and your reports showed as much. Apps that cling to foreground services to be able to run and serve you continuously like an email app, a music player or even a keyboard app, will not be updated unless either force closed or (for the keyboard) deselected as an input method. It was decided to postpone the usage of this feature until we find a way to update such apps as well. What does this mean? Your music might stop for 2 seconds on update or your email client will restart. Might be annoying for a bit but it's for a good cause. This change will come with a future alpha update and we will announce this then too. Community News If you can read Italian (or just use Fennecs translate feature), Enrico Zoia has prepared a new "Goodbye Big Tech: How to replace the most common apps on your smartphone with Open Source versions" article for you to start your year with. It takes just 10 minutes. Fossify Paint, Quick, easy and open source drawing app, is here and now we can archive the old Simple Draw Pro. Go ahead, switch! As mentioned in the last TWIF of 2024 the Privacy oriented web browser Mull has stopped development. As a new version of Firefox was released, and will be built in the next cycle, we marked Mull with the Known Vulnerability anti-feature to signal to users the need to switch to a currently developed browser instead. We recommend Fennec F-Droid. OpenTracks (Non-reproducible) was updated to v4.17.5irreproducible adding this new strange name. Why? Because we now also include OpenTracks (Reproducible build), A sport tracker buddy that respects your privacy, which is the same app but signed by the developer, and built and verified reproducible by F-Droid. If you want, you can switch to the reproducible version doing an export and import of your tracks. @linsui has the gist on proxies: Exclave, Proxy client, was just added, a fork of the discontinued SagerNet. As we mentioned in TWIF 9 of 2024, the author of SagerNet published sing-box as a successor of SagerNet. Sing-box is a great app, but many users prefer the design and rich features of SagerNet. @dyhkwong started Exclave as a fork of SagerNet and has added some more features to it. With dyhkwong's help, Exclave is available in F-Droid now with reproducible builds! There are some plugins but they are not packaged for F-Droid. Please get them from upstream. Removed Apps 2 more apps were removed foodsharing: Share food instead of throwing it away! (API has evolved, a new app might be coming) Text Tools: Useful text related functions that can be done on the selected text Newly Added Apps 4 more apps were newly added BFBAN Assistants: Report players on your phone with mobile app for BFBAN NymVPN: Fast & Secure VPN: Download our VPN and make your online activity 100% private. - Happy new alpha! (2025/01/02 00:00)

This Week in F-Droid TWIF curated on Thursday, 02 Jan 2025, Week 1 F-Droid core We wish you a Happy New Year! and we bring the new F-Droid and F-Droid Basic 1.22.0-alpha0, which marks the start of another dev testing cycle. What's new? More polishing, bug fixing and pain points addressed: use "gentle update" API so apps don't get killed while in use experimental support for un-archiving apps on Android 15 separate share link and share file actions in app details (so you can share the link to the app page or the installed APK) clean internal caches more often to free up space (Thanks DerGenaue!) don't update repos if they already have been updated in last 15sec re-order donation badges to match website (Thanks Leo!) show toast when APK has more permissions than expected (if your Android distro injects extra permissions, you'll know) add settings toggle to prefer foreign mirrors verify hash of downloaded image resources and reject invalid ones don't show apps with "bad" anti-features in category view don't show error dialog for (un)installs when user actively aborted don't update repos twice on fresh/clean app start auto fallback to other installer if priv-ext doesn't have permissions reduce DB size by checkpointing more frequently (Thanks DerGenaue!) fix a crash when a repo removed As usual we ask brave users to test this release and offer feedback as soon as possible. For example, "use 'gentle update' API so apps don't get killed while in use" needs some attention, keep an eye on interactions with apps that keep a foreground service active, say like your email client or your messaging app, do they autoupdate as expected? How to install this new alpha? In F-Droid Client, on its own page, either scroll down, expand Versions and install the latest, or in the upper right menu choose "Allow Beta updates". Community News @codedoctor is a bit late here but wanted us to know that Linwood Butterfly 2.2.3 was released. It sounds like a small release but it's one of the biggest quality of life updates. Highlights: ☐ More interface customization ☐ Save button indicator for autosave ☐ Laser tool improvements ☐

Template dialog improvements  Color wheel  Render resolution Full blog entry here. Tailscale was updated to 1.78.1-t8903926f7-gfdc1e9ca4 after more than 2 months, as version 1.72.0 had some issues that we mentioned in TWIF 2024 week 43. Another good news is that the app might be swichable to build reproducible soon, if upstream agrees. This Week in F-Droid TWIF curated on Thursday, 26 Dec 2024, Week 52 Community News Will you be at the 38-th Chaos Communication

Congress in Hamburg between 27–30 Dec 2024? If so, did you install the 38C3 Schedule and the c3nav Indoor navigation apps yet? @thore proposed an F-Droid meetup at 38C3, so if you fancy a real human talk, add the FOSS Android App and F-Droid Community Meetup to your Day 2 TODO schedule! Conversations and Quicksy were updated to 2.17.6+free polishing more of the UX about bubbles, avatars and reactions. While Audio and Video calls have been available since April 2020, recently the apps also got “Android calls integration” too. This makes an XMPP call behave like a normal phone call yielding useful features like: better Bluetooth integration and busy answer when you get called during an ongoing call. Not all Android versions support this, but newer ones do, so it all should be fine and dandy, right? Well, not quite. The integration was part of a larger code refactoring and the initial feedback was from plenty of devices, from many manufacturers, that... they stopped being able to call. Apparently this feature had a lot of bugs depending on the device and Android version, eg. tablets that advertised to have call integration or phones that did yet nothing worked. The developer started adding devices to an exception list with each new release making this an unwieldy endeavor. Latest version adds a toggle that allows users to just turn it off in case they're unlucky and their device is one of the broken ones. Forks like Cheogram and monocles chat should follow suit soon. Not all news is fun to type. We've been advertising the good work that the Divest project does, not only on the custom Android distro that helps old devices still be up-to-date but also about their apps in F-Droid. December marks 10 years of DivestOS, and this December will be the end of the project unfortunately. We wish Tavi all the best and thank them for all the work done during all this time! Mull and Fennec we're updated at the same time, so we hope there's a way forward for Mull too and we're tracking this in this issue. The rest of the apps might function by themselves or by having someone else host updated databases, we are tracking them in this issue. @shuvashish76 fills the board: LibreSudoku was updated to 2.0.0, with lots of changes.
