Activity Bar

The top area is where active applications and other important settings are present. Extensions are little tools that integrate into the system and are normally present in this top bar. You can install and manage hundreds of such extensions.

In TROM-Jaro the top bar is a place for notifications, volume and audio devices control, date and calendar, WiFi and Bluetooth access, or access to the user’s settings; additionally shut down, lock, or reboot your computer. Whenever your system finds new updates, it will notify you in the same “top activity area”.

“On top of this” you can hover with the mouse pointer anywhere on the top bar and scroll (up or down) to change the volume – just a little feature that may be useful to many.
